The sign should say it all — but not to some. It was the second time within three hours the fire department was called to the Violet Grove dump site on Friday morning. Pictured above a fireman extinguishes the burning garbage inside the dumping bin. The dump at Easyford suffered a similar fate earlier in the month with the newly installed bins being burnt up.

Four candidates to take hotseat at forum

Four candidates have registered to campaign in the Drayton Valley constituency and all four have confirmed they will take the hotseat tonight (Tuesday).

The Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce is holding its all-candidates election forum tonight beginning at 7 p.m. at the Elks Hall. Voters will go to the polls Thursday, May 8 to determine the next provincial government.

Drayton Valley candidates are PC Shirley Cripps, New Democrat Lawrence Dubienka, Liberal Phil Gibeau and Representative Party candidate Ron Williams.

Incumbent MLA Shirley Cripps lives in Winfield. She lists hospital expansion, senior citizen self-contained units, education consortium development and improved education facilities as developments she achieved for her constituency.

Lawrence Dubienka is a Thorsby-area farmer and Warburg teacher. The active church and community member cites agriculture, health care, unemployment, small business and rural education as issues to deal with in the coming election.

Liberal Phil Gibeau would like to provide a viable alternative to the party in power. He says voters need a choice.

The retired resident of Mulhurst has served as secretary of the Farmers' Union of Alberta, chairman of the Debtor's Assistance Board, director of Family Financial Counselling Services and chairman of the Alberta Legal Aid Society. He was also elected trustee of the Edmonton Separate School District in 1974 and president of the Alberta School Trustees Association in 1982.

Ron Williams probably hopes his Representative Party will do some barnstorming in this election. It marks the first official entry of the party into provincial politics.

As a 30-year veteran of the education field, Williams has been principal of Lindale and Sunnybrook schools and presently is principal at St. Anthony's High school in Drayton Valley.

Sunwest Air drops one flight

A decline in business has caused Sunwest Air to make some changes.

Rick McFarlane, a senior pilot with the Calgary-based firm, says the Edmonton run is being dropped. "We will look at it again in four or five months," McFarlane says.

Meanwhile, McFarlane says business has been encouraging on the Calgary to Rocky Mountain House and Drayton Valley run. And no changes are anticipated.

Drayton Valley and area residents planning to use Sunwest Air are reminded that the flight arrives at 5 p.m. and 6 p.m. from Calgary every day.

McFarlane says the loss of jobs in the oil patch is partly to blame for the lack of customers on the Edmonton run.

Sunwest Air introduced the service April 1st.

New building going up

Construction started Monday on a $150,000 office building at the corner of 52nd Avenue and 52nd Street, near the Drayton Valley Post Office.

Comdon Building Contractors of Red Deer are putting up the one-storey 42,000-square-foot building for Gibbs Sabine & Co., certified general accountants. There will also be some lease space available in the building, according to Don Lang of Comdon.

The building is expected to be completed by the end of June.

Up $1.97

Water to cost more

By Frank Ryan

Water is going to cost Drayton Valley consumers more money.

Starting with the next billing, the average bill, issued every two months, will go up a minimum of $1.97.

The $1.97 increase will push the maximum two-month bills to $41.36 from $39.59.

Despite the increase, water rates in Drayton Valley are comparable with other similar size towns. In Edson, water consumers face a minimum bill of $41.36 while the residents of Olds pay $42.28. Residents of Whitecourt have a minimum of $36.80 and Spruce Grove's rate is $36.22.

Councillor Howard Olsen is happy with the current minimum prices. "We're right in the ball park," Olsen says.

On the average, each Drayton Valley resident uses about 100 gallons of water per day. Olsen says two of the biggest users of water are the toilet (about five gallons per flush) and the dishwasher. A running toilet can also run up the water bill as one local resident found out. In a month, the running toilet cost the owner $235.

Meanwhile, the town is continuing to improve their water system.

A $1.9 million upgrading and expansion of the water treatment plant on the North Saskatchewan River is at the feasibility stage. Tenders are expected to be called in July with the work on the project slated to start in August. It will double the capacity at the plant.

The town has already completed two phases of their water system facilities upgrading project. This has included $1.7 million for the construction of a 0.5 million gallon reservoir and pump station and $675,000 for the construction of a new supply line to the new reservoir.

The financing of these three phases was partially done by increases in taxes of 0.3 mills in 1984, 0.28 mills in 1985 and the remainder through increase in water and sewer rates. An increase of five per cent for 1984-85-86 will generate extra funds to finance the water improvement systems.

"The money's in place. We're doing it without debenture borrowing," Olsen added.

When the project is completed, it will be able to accommodate a population of 8,000.

Tourist booth opens

The Drayton Valley tourist booth will be opening on the May 17th long weekend.

And as was the case last year, the booth will likely be manned once again by students hired under the federal STEP program (Student Temporary Employment Program).

Chamber of Commerce member Clarence Taal says they have applied to the program again, but have requested three students to man the booth compared with two last year.

Hours of operation have not yet been determined but will be open Saturday, Sunday and perhaps Monday, said Taal.

"We hope to have some word by the end of April about the students and what the hours will be," he added.

Blood donor clinic

A one-day Canadian Red Cross blood donor clinic will be held in Drayton Valley tomorrow (Wednesday).

The clinic will be held from 5 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. in the Legion Hall. Please eat before donating.

Organizers are hoping to attract 175 donors to the clinic, one of three held in Drayton Valley.

Originally, the Red Cross held two clinics in town, in the spring and again in the fall, but because of the continued good response, a January clinic was added.

Opinions

Taxpayers will get break on '86 mill rate

Town council is to be commended for holding the line on taxes.

Considering all the activity this past year such as blocks of new sidewalks, new water and sewer lines and an extensive paving project, taxpayers may have expected some increase in the mill rate.

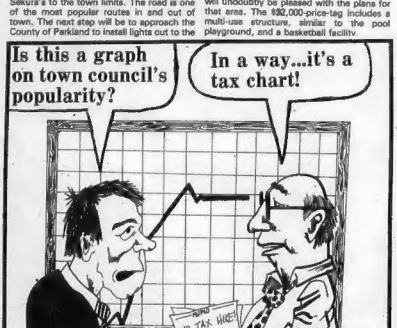
At the same time council announced that taxes wouldn't change, they let the 'cat out of the bag' about some of their plans for 1986.

These include:

* $10,000 for repairs to the town office
* $5,000 to micro-film council minutes
* $107,000 for a new street sweeper
* $8,000 for flashing lights near the Greenwood Trailer Court and the Mack & Mann corner
* street lights for 50th Street south past Sekura Auctions
* plans to widen the road in front of the Legion
* $5,000 for street lights on 80th Street near Dome Petroleum's office
* $3,000 for line painting at the airport
* $15,000 for a new riding mower
* $3,200 to replace four infrared heaters at the arena
* $10,000 for an ice conditioner
* $1,000 to replace the deep fryer at the arena
* $60,000 for puck boards and washrooms at the arena
* $3,000 to replace the Tarzan rope at the pool
* $10,000 for a new slide at the pool
* $28,000 for landscaping, sand, benches and lights at the pool playground
* $22,000 to develop MacKenzie Park
* $5,000 for a playground at Watino Park
* And, plans to resurface the tennis courts.

The most significant of all these projects are the street lights for 50th Street south past Sekura's to the town limits. The road is one of the most popular routes in and out of town. The next step will be to approach the County of Parkland to install lights out to the main highway.

Residents living around MacKenzie Park will undoubtly be pleased with the plans for that area. The $82,000-price-tag includes a multi-use structure, similar to the pool playground, and a basketball facility.



New county should be an election issue

There's a saying, "No news is good news."

But, in the case of the new county proposal, no news is bad news.

The final report has been on the market for weeks, with relatively 'no comment' from anyone. The Yes Group, Western Ratepayers, about the only group pushing for a new county, have met, but haven't made any comments.

If there ever was an election issue — the establishment of a new county is it. With Premier Don Getty coming to town May 5th, it provides those supporters with an opportunity to see where the premier sits on the issue.

As we understand it, the main issue now is a public opinion petition. The government says it's not their place to do it, and the Yes Group, who have already done so much, don't have the funds.

Is the prospect of a new county to end on a sour note?

Irene Stoltz has some serious concerns about our mail delivery.

On April 11, the Tomahawk resident received a letter from the University of Alberta in Edmonton that was mailed Nov. 5/85. That's six months for a letter to travel less than a 100 miles.

Actually, Stoltz is not alone in her concerns about the mail service.

Six cheques mailed during the week of March 12-19 by customers have never arrived at The Western Review. In fact, they've never gone through the bank which leads one to believe they're LOST. Two of those customers made out new cheques and they arrived within two days.

Carl Mattoon, a former Drayton Valley resident who now lives in Hobbs, New Maxico, is wondering what route his Western Review is taking. It's been arriving about six weeks late.

The matter of the missing cheques and Mattoon's papers, are now in the hands of Drayton Valley postmaster LeRoy Robinson.

Arena

Council and committee take first step

By Bryan Gullion

An independent steering committee and Drayton Valley Town Council have taken the first step toward cooperation on the present community arena issue.

A delegation of the Drayton Valley Community Centre Steering Committee met last Wednesday with town council and the recreation board to discuss arena plans and concerns.

As a result of the meeting, the steering committee was invited to forward a letter to town council requesting advisory board status on the arena project.

During the meeting, steering committee members agreed that an arena is needed regardless of where it is situated. But they strongly stressed the need for a feasibility study.

Mayor Bob Mayhew and several of the six councillors who were present warned against "putting the cart before the horse."

"The financial perimeters are only being established in so far as what we think we can burden the taxpayer with in the near future," explained Mayhew.

"And to plan for something beyond that...is an effort in futility. Like somebody said, 'We're putting the horse at the wrong end of the cart' and starting to argue about where it's going to be put. You don't go shopping for a house until you've got the money."

The steering committee indicated that their plans for a multi-use facility would include an arena, a curling rink and multi-purpose rooms to be rented by various groups around the community. They also pointed out that, if it is to be built, the arena should be erected on a site east of the rodeo grounds, in the southwest corner of West Valley Park.

According to Mayhew, council generally agrees with the proposal to construct a first-phase arena on the hardball diamond area of West Valley Park. In conjunction, an administration centre would be built on the site of the present arena utilizing its foundation.

As proposed, the administration centre would house a new fire hall, library and town office.

Mayhew pointed out that while the arena and the administration centre are definite needs of the town, council does not want to commit taxpayers to long-term debenture borrowing to pay for it.

The mayor's projection for raising the $1 million needed to build the proposed arena begins with $250,000 of town CRC grant money. This would then have to be matched with $250,000 out of the public purse. The same thing would happen with the county, who would contribute $150,000 of their CRC grant funding and then match that with an equal amount.

Another $200,000 is hoped to be raised from public fund raising to reach the price tag.

With the sale of the present town office and library buildings, Mayhew projects $325,000 can be raised toward the administration centre. Another $150,000 is written in as a contribution from the county toward the fire hall. A cultural portion of the county's CRC grant would kick in an additional $40,000 and $75,000 more would come from the town's CRC cultural portion. The hypothetical total at this point is $590,000. The price tag is $900,000.

As the mayor explained it, the $250,000 of taxpayers' money that is being included in the arena projections would then be added to the $310,000 balance for the administration centre effectively enlarging the balance to $560,000. His balance, he says, may have to be looked after with short-term financing.

While the steering committee was unable to present any cost projections for their plan, council noted that an extra half-million dollars could be added to the cost of its project. They were to be built on the committee's preferred site. The reason for this, they explained, being the cost of roadways and utilities that would have to be routed to the site.

Steering committee member Joe MacLellan admitted to being in the dark as to which proposal would be best, and added he would like to see a feasibility study.

"It would seem to me that if we hired some specialists and paid these people maybe $5,000 or $10,000 it would be good value on that dollar," he suggested. "We're embarking on quite a voyage and I think it would do us well to set our course very carefully. I think we should have a feasibility study to determine what we want and secondly, very important, to determine what we can afford."

Two sides meet on arena issue

By Bryan Gullion

Fed up with "the rumors", the two sides of the proposed Drayton Valley arena controversy finally met last week to discuss the issues.

At a joint town council-recreation board meeting members of the Drayton Valley Community Centre Steering Committee got some long-overdue answers to questions concerning the town fathers' plans for a new community arena.

In an interview with The Western Review the next day, steering committee spokesman Alex Salti said he felt the meeting had proved useful.

"I felt we presented our side quite well," Salti said. "I was concerned at the way the meeting was being looked at. Things just kept going round and round and all we wanted to do was to make our concerns known and become active in the short and long range planning. I don't think that was made that clear. Other things clouded the issues but they are our point.

"I appreciate that they're looking at the total issues of the town but I'm very much for the idea of a feasibility study," he added. "There are priorities for both sides that determine the whole picture. I disagree that this is putting the cart before the horse. We know the arena is going to rank number one and we want to work with council, not against them."

While Mayor Bob Mayhew said he came away from the meeting feeling positive, he didn't admit to any concessions.

"I don't like being pushed into a corner," said Mayhew concerning the curling rink issue. "That is their problem and there is nothing council can do about it. We have other priorities.

"Certainly I feel it was a productive meeting," he continued. "There were some very decent people there last night and I'm not about to discourage them. They have to remember that we're not throwing all our eggs into one basket."

And as far as a feasibility study goes, the mayor's not crazy about the idea.

"If we want to do something we have to act," he said, referring to the idea of completing the phase-one construction of a new arena within two years. "But first we have to make sure we get the money in place and then we'll see. We know how many dollars we have, we don't have to study that."

Army of 8,500

Clean-up campaign ready to go

The annual spring clean-up campaign starts this Saturday.

An army of 8,500 4-H and Junior Forest Wardens kick off the week-long campaign as they clean up the litter along Alberta's 4,000 miles of highway ditches. Last year the young people collected 57,000 bags of litter.

Clean-up campaign aimed at yards like this. No charge to pick up old car bodies.

Motorists are asked to pay special attention to these young people while travelling on Saturday.

Spring clean-up in Drayton Valley kicks off on Monday, May 5. This week has officially been proclaimed Spring Clean-Up Week, and all residents are being asked to do their part to make Drayton Valley refuse-free.

Call 542-5327

Town trucks will be following the regular garbage pick up schedule during the week of May 5-11, picking up all lawn clippings, tree and hedge clippings, bags of refuse. Items should be ready by 8 a.m.

If you have any large items that are difficult to remove from your property such as appliances or car bodies, call Dave Turner at 542-5327. Arrangements will be made to move these items free of charge.

The landfill site will be open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. There is no charge to use the landfill site.

School children will also get involved, cleaning up school grounds and adjoining vacant lots.

Lesson to learn from Drayton Valley

If the town (Whitecourt) decides to bid on hosting the 1988 Alberta Senior Games there could be a lesson to be learned from Drayton Valley's experience with the 1985 Games.

There was a lot of celebrating in Drayton Valley the day it was announced their bid for the Games was successful. The local newspaper even ran the Games logo on its banner every week, starting over a year before the Games were scheduled.

But after months of planning, Drayton Valley discovered it was going to cost the town tens of thousands of dollars more than the $160,000 available in government grants — and town council decided there was no choice but to give the Games up to Grande Prairie.

Hosting the Games, an event which brings hundreds of people into town and has the potential to provide Whitecourt with new or upgraded facilities is an ambitious and worthy project.

But it's one that can't be undertaken without research into every possible angle, to avoid repetition of Drayton Valley's embarrassing miscalculations.

Dog kills family member on own doorstep

Dear Editor,

Well it finally happened. We lost part of our family to a dog that wasn't content to stay in its own yard.

No, it wasn't one of our children, thank God, but our cat. I know what you're thinking – just a cat, but it was our cat for close to five years and very much a part of our family.

We had visions of this cat of ours living to a very old age and dying of natural causes. It was a house cat, when it felt it had the right to enjoy the fresh air outside we put it on a leash so it wouldn't wander away. It never left our yard and never bothered our neighbors.

Well, recently some dog owner thought his dog had the right to run free, wander into our yard and kill our pet on our doorstep. Once again the fear and anger rises because of these dog owners and the rights they feel their dogs have to terrorize my family.

Last year at St. Anthony's school grounds, my son was bitten on the back by a huge husky. A week after my complaints to the town office, a few members of the town council and the police, this husky (as well as a few other dogs), was caught and removed from the school grounds.

I don't think this dog had a mean nature, but it was so big and playful that it's baby soft little kids made perfect teething rings for him. This dog could have easily knocked an adult down, so what chance did a little kid have?

Again a few weeks ago I saw a doberman pinscher on St. Anthony's school grounds and somehow, I didn't feel the dog was safely guarding all those school children from harm.

Here is some food for thought: Have you ever heard of a pack of poodles or dachshunds tearing a kid's face off or tearing a kid's throat out? I haven't. How safe do you feel you or your children are out on the street or in your own yard when a pack of big dogs are out wandering the neighborhood? What would you do if you or your child were attacked by a large dog while out walking your small house dog on a leash?

Letters

Would you foolishly try to save your small dog from the jaws of a doberman pinscher or would you just stand back and watch your pet being shredded? Are large dogs that can fatally harm a human being really necessary for security in this town? Wouldn't some kind of an alarm system work just as well and be a lot safer for society?

I don't hate large dogs, but I don't feel the streets, school grounds and playgrounds of Drayton Valley are the place for them. I also don't feel it is just a few thoughtless and careless dog owners that cause this problem.

Over the years I have heard many complaints about the dog problem in this town, and it isn't getting any better. There must be some solution to successfully control this situation.

Why can't this town restrict residents to ownership of only small house dogs? I know small dogs also bite, but in most cases their bites aren't considered fatal. In the case of a blind person, it is understandable why a big dog is necessary, but it is also known these dogs are well trained and do not wander around town unaccompanied by a responsible person.

I would be very surprised to hear of just one block in town that isn't being terrorized by a dog. Doesn't anybody else in this town feel the way I do? Does this town of Drayton Valley literally have to go to the dogs?

From a responsible, but where did it get me pet owner.

George Bergquist (left) accepts a cheque for $700 from Michael Bunney of the Oilmen's league.

Oilmen favor more ice time

Dear Editor,

The Oilmen's Recreational Hockey League would like to take this opportunity to comment on the building of a new sports facility.

We presently have seven teams in our league. We have added one team to the league every year since the league was formed and are now looking at a eight teams for next year.

With eight teams, coupled with the loss of ice time every year due to the rise of ice time needed to accompany minor hockey, the commercial league, figure skating and various other user groups, we are in dire straits.

The oilmen's league realize that youth is priority '1', but with the growing population, there is just not enough ice time to go around. We have tried playing hockey at 6 a.m. and at 12 midnight and found that the support is just not there. It does not make sense to re-ice time and pay referees and have only five players show up.

As our league is funded mostly by the players themselves, many with children in minor hockey and figure skating, we are well aware of the problems user groups are now facing.

If a new facility is built, we will then be able to schedule at least two games a week per team. We could hold local and invitational tournaments which surely would help local business, where at present we cannot even hold a local tournament.

We are prepared to donate $100 per team ($700 total) towards a new facility, coming directly from the players themselves. We would also like to help in fund raising or even conducting fund raising of our own, in the event a new complex is built. If a new facility is not, we will be forced to look to other towns for ice rental to maintain the support of our league.

Sincerely,
Michael R. Bunney
Oilmen's Recreational Committee.

Ten graduate from program

By Bryan Gullion

It was a long haul for most of them, but it was well worth the effort.

Ten Drayton Valley area ladies graduated last weekend from the Early Childhood Development program offered at the Pembina Educational Consortium. It is sponsored by Grant MacEwan Community College of Edmonton.

"I've been taking the course (part-time) since 1978," said Carol Hoyland, one of the grads. "It's helped me to become a better mother and a better wife. I would encourage anyone to take advantage of this course because it is offered in our community."

While the course is designed to prepare students for employment as trained early childhood development workers or to pursue further education at the university level, many take the course just because they are parents, says instructor Eva Roche, a full-time instructor at Grant MacEwan.

"The course enables the student to deal with young children in a variety of settings that meet the needs of children and their families," she explained. "It contributes to a deeper knowledge of what it is to be a parent."

Toni Lachance agreed about the value of taking the course.

"With so many pre-school children and so many jobs available for working with children, it's gratifying that the courses are available locally," said the Drayton Valley resident.

Muriel Hartley of Easyford said: "It was terrific. Challenging. It showed the importance of play as actually a learning experience for children."

Roche said she hopes some of the Drayton Valley grads think about continuing their education in the early childhood development field.

"It was a very exciting experience to teach this group of women," she admitted. "They read avidly, questioned, gave opinions and thought about the material we covered. It was also a humbling experience because they were so motivated. They did their work despite having households to run, distances to travel and having babies, including twins."

The course is a two-year Grant MacEwan program that can be studied part-time in Drayton Valley. Upon graduation students receive a diploma and one-year advanced standing at the University of Alberta in Education or Family Studies.

For more information about the program, contact the Pembina Educational Consortium in Drayton Valley.

Council established

Teens in the County of Parkland have a say in the programs being offered them.

A teen advisory council was established last year during "The International Year of Youth" to facilitate programs that would adequately meet the needs and demands of teens living in the county. The council proved to be such a boon to youth programming that it has been carried over into 1986, with plans to make it an ongoing advisory body.

"Every county was asked to send a representative to a meeting as a means of finding out what would be the best way to set up youth programs for International Year of Youth," west area recreation coordinator Ed Haykowski explained. "Youth suggested a council to best assist in programming for teens. The council is comprised of two reps from each division of the county."

Teen ideas and concerns are ferried through school student councils to the Teen Advisory Council which meets twice a month. A member of the county recreation department sits in on the meetings in strictly an advisory, non-voting capacity, said Haykowski, who regularly does this himself.

Some of the workshops that the council and the county have come up range from Sexual Assault and Prison Life to Business For Youth and Teenage Stress. But it's not all work. Plans are in the works for at least two major fun functions this summer.

In Drayton Valley H.W. Pickup students Darlene Simon and Dan Mills are teen council representatives.

Recreation

Defending champs to hold open house

They could be the first club to do it twice.

The Drayton Valley martial arts club is heading for Red Deer in mid-May to defend their western Canadian kickboxing team title. If they win the team title again it will be the first time anyone has repeated consecutively as champions.

For now, the club is practicing in the confines of the St. Anthony's gymnasium – preparing for the two-day competition.

The club is also holding an open house for the general public to come and watch them practice. Anyone interested is invited to attend the open house on May 5 between 6 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. at St. Anthony's.

Coach Al Walper said they will be doing everything from exercising to "bag work" to "make people aware of what we do."

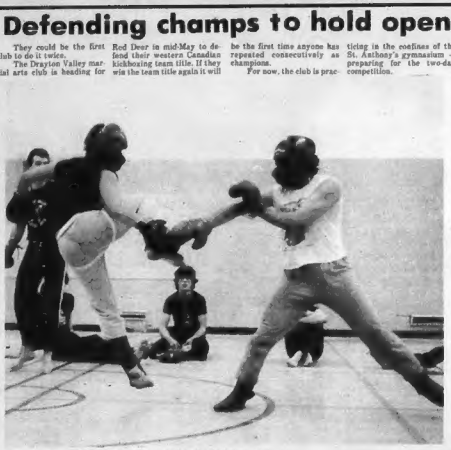
The club has seven returnees from last year's edition that claimed four gold, three silver and six bronze medals along with the team championship. Walper thinks they have a good chance of repeating, but points out there will be more than 600 competitors on about 35 other teams also vying for the coveted team crown.

One returning member of last year's team Dean Davidson agrees they have a good chance to win the team title again.

"It worked last year and it's going to work this year," Davidson says about their strategy. He adds they have some "extra pressure" being defending champs but will work even harder to retain the crown.

Davidson says their training this year has included more emphasis on "full-contact fighting."

The club currently trains twice a week and may pick up an extra day of training as the May 17, 18, and 19 competition at Lindsay Thurber Composite High school in Red Deer draws near.



A member of the Drayton Valley club goes high in the air during a workout.

Ball clinic

Two participants in the weekend baseball clinic at Lions Park converge on a ground ball. About ten players took part in the first step to a tryout with Team Alberta.

League won't join ASA

The Central Alberta Rural Town Soccer League (CARTSL) will not join the Alberta Soccer Association.

The seven teams that attended the CARTSL's meeting in Drayton Valley voted unanimously not to join the provincial association.

CARTSL president Simon Kelly said the main reason they didn't join was the cost. Kelly explained it would have added about $375 to each team's fees on top of the CARTSL's own $225 fee.

Other items dealt with at the two-and-a-half hour meeting included the passing of a motion not to take a break. In past years the league has not played during the summer and picked up the play again in August. Kelly said this year they will play right through taking the July and August long weekends off. The league's banquet is also "tentatively" set for September 13 in Spruce Grove.

Kelly was re-elected league president for the eighth year while Julian Annicchiarico from Whitecourt was re-elected vice-president.

Auto club to hold race

Mark June 1st on your calendar.

That's the day the Pro Street Auto Club is hoping to host their second annual road race near Rocky Rapids.

Last year's race attracted over 2,000 people and the club is aiming for up to 5,000 this year.

Hack Hamdon, with the club, said they will be limiting the number of entries to 75 with mostly local cars competing.

The races will be divided into three main classes – trucks, cars and bikes.

Hamdon said the community of Rocky Rapids is behind the club in hosting the race.

The club is also hoping to get Brad Janishewski in his double A nitro car. Janishewski is a local resident who is racing on the double A nitro circuit in the United States.

Hamdon said insurance is the only thing remaining to make the June 1 date official.

Blades' coaches not returning to "babysitting" role

By Lorne Christensen

Simon Kelly and Morris Seiferling won't be returning as coaches for the Drayton Valley Blades.

The two have decided not to return as co-coaches of the local junior B team saying the "headache is over."

Seiferling said he will not have the time next year to help coach the team.

"I didn't have the time this winter," he added.

"We were the cheapest babysitters money can buy," Seiferling explained.

Kelly agreed with Seiferling and said the "jobs are open" for next year. Kelly joked one of the good points about the job this year was they didn't have to deal with management.

One of the main reasons the two have decided to leave the position is the "attitude problems" with some of the players. Kelly explains "it's tough" finding a right blend of players for the junior team adding only "some take it seriously."

Kelly added they had the best talent and the best appetenders in the league but there was a "100 per cent attitude problem."

"Once you have to play with their minds you're not a coach but more of a psychologist," he pointed out.

Although Kelly and Seiferling take part of the blame for the team's attitude and performance, they also place the blame on the players, parents and the minor hockey system.

"They can't expect us to take a team like that and turn them around," Kelly said. Kelly and Seiferling agree the "roots of the problem" begin in minor hockey.

"It's easier to teach when a kid is small than when they're bigger than we are," Seiferling added about the skill levels of some of the players.

"It boggles my mind when we have to teach a junior player to pass and catch a pass," Seiferling explained.

Other problems originated from the players and the parents.

"Some parents never showed up and other parents were very supportive," Kelly pointed out. But the players themselves also share the blame, according to the former coaches.

"You have got to get guys there that want to play junior and make it the best possible team," Kelly said.

But not all the times were bad with this year's edition of the Blades.

"It wasn't all bad news all year," Seiferling explained. He said one particular game against Rimbey stood out. They tied the game with no time left on the clock and went on to win in overtime.

"As long as things were going good no one needed us, but we took the blame when things went bad," Kelly added.

"We would have never survived if we weren't friends," Kelly said, adding they "worked out their problems."

The two took the team over after "no one else wanted too."

"We started with zero, not a dime. Next year when they start there will probably be money in the bank and no outstanding bills," Seiferling pointed out.

The two did everything from collecting sponsors money to arranging transportation for the team.

"A bunch of times I just about said 'forget this,'" Seiferling explained, "but I said I went this far and I'm not going to quit."

Seiferling pointed out one of the main reasons they took on the position at the beginning was to keep the team alive.

"It's so easy to let it fold but it's hard to get it going again," he added.

Everything is set up for next year, according to Kelly and Seiferling. They plan to attend the ice-users meeting and maintain the team's league ties so it will not fold before next year.

But for now they plan on spending the summer, reflecting.

Kelly summed up the Blades' performance during the year the best.

"It was something like the movie! Slapshot."

May 8th

Achievement awards

The town's athletic achievement awards will be handed out at the May 8th town council meeting.

Everything from baseball teams to wild horse racing champions to kickboxers will be honored.

Recreation director Calvin Benscheid said they are honoring those nominated who "reached the provincial level."

Benscheid said they will be presenting them with a certificate at the town's council meeting. He added anyone being awarded will be notified.

The list for the 1985 awards includes Barry Minault, Richard Nelson and Gary Kolenski for winning the wild horse racing. The Drayton Valley Tiggers, defending provincial ladies' basketball champions for 1985 and 1986, will also be honored.

In baseball the Andex Oilers and Drayton Valley Tiggers, the twilight baseball team, will be recognized. The 1985 Western Canadian champion kickboxers from the Drayton Valley martial arts club will also be honored.

Teena Howarth, Kim Bergquist, Deana Sluchinski and Jodie Urchyshyn will be awarded certificates for their accomplishments in high school and ladies' curling.

In boxing seven will be given certificates including Terry Swartz, Randy McQuaig, Rodney Tetreault, Curt Schmidt, Ron Olsen, Merr Baker and Derrick Boxing club coach Lawrence Dupperron. Members of the Neptune swim club will also be honored along with highland dancer Shannon Bredin.

Friend Baseball

Friend Baseball -- a mixture of darkness and sun,
Believe-it-or-not stuff to spark everyone,
Those nose-to-nose umpire visits are fun.
With dirt-kicking, fault picking, one against one
Or shooting a nose with a ball for a gun
Or into a dugout, head first on the run
Cause a chance is a chance even when there is none

Friend Baseball -- the same that is soothing or irks,
From presidents, midwives, blue collars to clerks.
They all passing judgement on winners and jerks
Awaiting a play where some nice rust lurks.
Or watch flying bats sent to jam up the works.
Wall-crashing, tongue-lashing and such sorts of quirks.
Cause the park is a cauldron where human life perks

Friend Baseball -- a guaranteed smile on your face
Through some combination of crudeness and grace.
A slugger, a stealer, a great pitching ace
Can hypnotize millions involved in the chase.
From opening pitch to the end of the race
In parks or on TV there's never much space
Cause when baseball is on there is no better place

Minor soccer set to kick-off

The minor soccer season will kick off May 6.

About 170 kids will be taking part in the program this year according to president Bill Boos. That number is up from the 145 that participated in last year's program.

Boos says the first games will start at 6:30 on Tuesday, May 6. The five, six, and seven year-olds will play at Mackenzie Park while the eight and nine-year-olds will go at Park Place, on 48 Avenue near Lions Park. The 10, 11 and 12-year-olds will play at St. Anthony's.

Boos says they will play twice a week, on Tuesdays and Thursdays until the end of June.

Also in minor soccer this year, two travelling teams will be playing against other communities, a team from the eight and nine group and the 10, 11, and 12 year-olds. Boos added they haven't decided yet if the teams will be in a league or play exhibition games against other teams.

Minor soccer is also commencing the welding department at Frank Maddock High school to build "portable" soccer nets. Boos said they hope to anchor the nets down on the various fields during the summer.

A total of 14 teams will be playing this year.

Ball hockey

Ghosts and Hawks lead

The Grey Ghosts and the Blackhawks are the only two undefeated teams after the first week of ball hockey action.

The Grey Ghosts dumped the Blue Angels 5-1 and then blanked the White Knights 3-0. The Blackhawks earned their perfect record with a 5-1 win over the Red Devils and a 8-5 victory over the Blue Angels.

In other games the White Knights dumped the Yellow Stars 6-2 and the Red Devils and Yellow Stars tied at 4-4.

Action goes every Tuesday and Thursday with games starting at 6:30 p.m., 8 p.m. and 9:30 p.m.

Golf club president Les Bannerman (right) accepts a cheque for $25,000 from Ed Haykowski who was presenting the funds for construction at the course on behalf of the County of Parkland and Henry Rondeel, who was instrumental in the club getting the grant.

Annual windup

The second annual bowling windup will be held this Saturday at the Rec Plex.

The evening starts at 6 p.m. with supper to be served at 7 o'clock. The presentation of awards will follow at 8 p.m. with the evening winding down with a dance, to the music of the Vibrations.

Tickets are available at the Twilite Bowl in Drayton Valley. Their phone number is 542-5745.

'86 objective

Halt the Easyford Colts

For most teams of the Oilfield Men's Baseball League the 1986 objective will be halt the 15-year reign of supremacy by the Easyford Colts.

"The Colts have won the league 15 years in a row," confirmed league president Harold Reinhart. "But it could be three teams fighting for first place near the end of the season."

The battles will officially get under way on Thursday May 22, with each team playing two home games and two away as part of a 20-game schedule.

Teams making up the league this year include DV Oilers, D & S Drivers, Breton Eagles, Warburg Rams, Thorsby Aces and the Easyford Colts.

Playoffs will be held August 9-10 with the four top teams competing in a round robin on the home field of the first place finisher.

Additionally, the Oilfield league will host this year's all-star tournament with the Edson All-stars whom they blasted last year three straight in the best-of-five battle. The possible date for the confrontation is July 26-27.

Surfaces for courts

The town will be spending $6,500 to resurface the old tennis courts beside the pool.

Recreat on director Calvin Bennefield said they will be putting a "four coat" professional finish on the two courts. He added they expect to have the Vancouver based company doing the work here in early May. The same company will also paint lines on the two new tennus courts near the hospital.

Bennefield said they will also be setting up the liners for lights again this year.

The first step has finally been taken in recognizing local athletes

At the next council meeting the town will honor local athletes who reached the provincial level in their particular sporting event. This recognition is a long time coming.

Yet the list of names and teams nominated for the special certificate is not complete.

One name in particular is missing from the list Clayton Hines.

The local cowboy won the Canadian saddle bronc title for the second time last year. But since no one nominated Hines for the award he wasn't receive one.

That is a mistake.

The town and recreation board should look at changing the nominating procedure and add names than may be missed or overlooked by the community.

Another rodeo some missing from the list is Iris Tuffin. The music teacher and barrel racer competed in the 1985 Canadian finals in Edmonton.

On the other side of the coin the town deserves credit for finally recognizing the athletes and their contributions to the community. It wasn't an easy job getting even the existing list put together.

The pubar had been asking for some kind of recognition for the many people that brought publicity to the Town of Drayton Valley through their sporting accomplishments.

But when the town's recreation board did come up with an award the public didn't seem to care anymore. After the first nomination deadline had passed only two names had been submitted for the award.

This forced an extension of the deadline. Only then after storres and photos in the paper and hard work by the town's recreation department, did more names come in.

When the athletes gather at the next council meeting on May 5 it will mark the first of what should be a long continuing tradition. But the awards will only continue if the public supports the idea. The town and the recreation board should be given credit for establishing the awards and now it's our turn to keep the idea running.

Ladies football

Teams hit the turf

It looks a lot brighter this year than it did last year."

The 1998 version of the ladies' football league includes the original four — Legionettes, Skyrox Foxes, Blackgold 76ers and Whitby Playmates — and will see teams from Lundale, Moon Lake, Tomahawk and Easyford added to the schedule.

We're getting more and more players interested in playing so hopefully the league won't die out,' Guyon added.

Help

Senior baseball players are wondering out loud if the town plans to build an arena or replace the dugouts at West Valley Park. A giant-size hole is all that remains from where the old sunken dugouts were torn down. The latest word from the recreation director is that they will be replaced. When, is the question the ball players want to know.

At the Moose Jaw rodeo, Tim McKinney of Sherwood Park and Bev Stuber of Manyberries shared the money lead. In winning the bull riding McKinney won $619 while Stuber recorded a time of 13.5 in winning the ladies barrel racing, which also paid $619. It was a good rodeo for Cardston's Bob Wilson as he collected $389 in winning the calf roping with a time of 11 4 seconds

Motorcycle safety courses coming

The incidence of death in motorcycle accidents is higher than that of any other motor vehicle statistics show

But there are people out there concerned about this. Help is on the way

With the exception of June 28 and 29, mark every weekend on your calendar from May 3 to July 20 as dates to remember if you're still reading this far

The County of Parkland will be holding Canada Safety Council Motorcycle Training courses on three summer weekends. Deadline for each two weekend course will be the Thursday just prior to the starting date

West area recreation coordinator Ed Haykowski says that the course was quite popular last year. And, he adds, more and more women are taking the safety training

"Response was good last year," he said. "The course appeals to a younger age group, women or anybody who's purchasing a motorcycle for the first time. Essentially we get a good cross section of people come out for this

Topics covered by the program include basic intermediate and advanced road survival skills that highlight road hazards and conditions. The safety aspects will be a key part of this course," Haykowski added

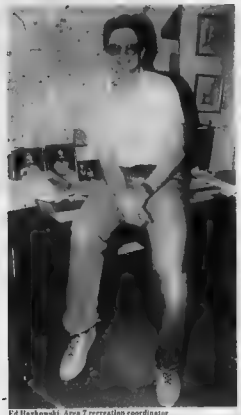
Haykowski sees many responsibilities



Ed Haykowski, Area 7 recreation coordinator

By Bryan Gullion

Running the west area county recreation office is not a slack job. Just ask Ed Haykowski.

The 34 year-old former resident of Edmonton is the west area recreation coordinator for the County of Parkland. His office is located at the Drayton Valley county office.

"I'm pretty busy all year round," Haykowski explained. "There is no real peak or real valley."

But just what is it that he's busy with over there?

"The summer is very busy with the teen advisory council and the bus-to-swim programs, and in the fall with the schooling getting under way we're going to be busy with a lot of things like playschool in service.

As the county recreation coordinator for this area, Haykowski has a number of responsibilities. For instance, he assists the playschools in the area with such things as equipment, information and instructors.

He is also responsible for administering recreation grants applicable to this area. Along with this, Haykowski is required to sit on the county recreation board that meets once a month and also finds time to sit in on the Drayton Valley recreation board.

Additionally he keeps tabs on the Powerhouse Further Education Council and the Pembina Education Consortium.

But as Haykowski points out, all this is necessary to maintaining up-to-date information required to accurately advise county residents who call his office with inquiries.

Information and enquiries can be obtained by calling 542-4632.

* Adult swim: Tues. and Thurs., 8:15-8:30 p.m.
* Lane swim: Mon., Tues., Wed., and Fri., 3-4 p.m and Saturdays, 12 1 p.m.

New bylaw aimed at the arena

Violence and abusive language at town facilities are the targets of a new bylaw currently in the hands of the town

The bylaw, if passed, will give the Town of Drayton a set guideline for dealing with trouble causers at any of their facilities

Recreation director Calvin Bennefield says the bylaw is aimed mainly at the arena although it includes all town facilities

"It will give us something on paper to deal with people," he added

Bennefield said they don't want to be a police force but the bylaw gives them "another avenue" to enforce rules at their facilities.

Town manager Manny Deol said the main purpose of the bylaw is to deal with people not respecting public property

Deol added it was a sensitive area in terms of law and "what they can do."

The bylaw says any person who "engages in disorderly conduct offensive to the rights of other persons" must leave the facility if requested by an employee. It outlines disorderly conduct to include "physical or verbal assault, damage or destruction of any property, use or possession of alcoholic beverages, drunkenness, and use or possession of illegal drugs."

It goes on saying that anyone requested to leave may be "denied future access" to the facility for up to three months.

The bylaw also sets a maximum $2,500 penalty for anyone guilty of an offence

The bylaw requires a second and third reading before it is passed. The first reading was given at the last town council meeting

Agriculture

Business community has mixed feelings

By Bryan Gullion

Reaction to local District Agriculturist, Doug Walkey's statements about the farming community's possible effect on the economy of Drayton Valley has been mixed.

At the April 10 meeting of the Drayton Valley Chamber of Commerce Walkey told a sparse crowd of chamber members, "We have $28 million dollars of income being produced right in the immediate area. But the profit margin is not high in farming so they're spending all that money somewhere."

Walkey's advice to the business community of Drayton Valley, "Don't look a gift horse in the mouth."

Area manager for the Drayton Ag Centre Wes Ratzlaff explained that his company is trying to do more for the farming community.

"We're trying to reach out to the farming community," he said. "They're just not willing to spend it here unless they have to and then only the minimum amount."

Ratzlaff indicated he would like to see more farm oriented business located in Drayton Valley.

Unfortunately, we're the only farm dealer in town as far as equipment goes," he said. "Other businesses in the industrial trade are geared primarily for the oilfield. The farmer has to go a long way to get a price on tires."

But he does see the farm business around Drayton Valley as a potentially lucrative one.

"People, I think, are starting to become aware of this and I think we'll see changes this way," he stated. "We've got to cater more to the farm community and we've got to work together on this."

Mrs. Hagman, part owner of Drayton Valley Machine and Welding disagreed.

"Farming around Drayton Valley is not too great," she said. "We've tried to cut it down because we are too busy with the oil business. We've been in business for 30 years and used to do farm work, but farmers always want us to do it right now. Right around here they are just hobby farmers, I think."

Jarry Obst is the manager of Optimo Machine and Repair. He says that his shop does perform farm repair work but was skeptical about Walkey's figures.

"I'd have to see that," he mused. "Well over 60 per cent of the farmers have to have a job other than the farm just to keep it going. Walkey might be right, but it might cost $ 30 million to produce it through."

Obst suggested that since businesses such as his are geared for catering to the oil patch, farmers can't afford the labor charges that are likewise geared to the petroleum industry.

"We have big expensive equipment and certain operating costs that we can't stray away from," he explained. "Farmers don't want to pay that much."

"The slower the oilpatch the more we'll be looking at other forms of income," he admitted. "I think most of us realize the oil won't be here forever."

Jay Edwards, manager of Revelstoke, says he feels that catering more to the farm community is something all businessmen in Drayton Valley should be looking at.

"If anybody says he can get along without the farmer they had better take another look," he warned. "We (Revelstoke) have supported them and they have supported us through the hard times. And if the trend continues the way it's been going, then people are going to have to look at a different type of stability other than the oil business."

House is destroyed

Wayne and Heather Bruns were left homeless last weekend when fire destroyed their Buck Lake residence.

Fortunately, the Brunes and their young son were in Edmonton when fire struck their home at 5 a.m. on Sunday, April 20th. They lost everything in the fire.

Residents of the area are being asked to donate items to the Buck Lake family, as they attempt to get back on their feet. Donations of clothing, furniture, money or whatever people feel they can give, can be left at the Buck Lake Store. Or, call Rudy or Vera Bruns at 388-2129.

Couple speaks to local Toughlove group

By Frank Ryan

Carolyn and Ross Woolsey of Ardrossan brought their story to Drayton Valley last Thursday night.

The Woolseys were guest speakers at a Toughlove public meeting, attended by 45 people in the Legion Hall.

The Woolsey's story, of how Toughlove, a self-help parent group working with troubled kids has helped them, was inspiring, to say the least.

When we got involved with toughlove in 1982 our 16 year old son was involved in drugs. We set some strict rules Carolyn Woolsey told the meeting.

We don't kick our kids out we give them choices," she emphasized to the very interested audience.

Toughlove has worked in our home," Ross Woolsey added.

"We found it much easier to get along when we changed our parenting ways," he added

We had to change our responses as to how we were handling the situation. The way we were doing it wasn't working," he stated.

"Toughlove is a self help parent group. People come from all kinds of families We came because our kids were in trouble," Carolyn Woolsey stated

"We put down any kind of abuse. That's not the way it is," Carolyn Woolsey made a point of clarifying

"The tough in Toughlove means it's tough on the parents, especially if your child is going to jail," she added

"The people who come to Toughlove really care," she explained

A support group, using the Toughlove philosophy, have been meeting every Thursday for the past three months in Drayton Valley Interested parents are welcome to attend the meetings, held at 7:30 p.m. in Room 9 at the Frank Maddock High school

Playground closed

The children's playground next to the Park Valley swimming pool was closed last week so work could continue on the site. After the sand was poured and the equipment erected, crews moved in to jackhammer out the concrete creating an unsafe area. These are some of the big rocks piled up around the playground.

Town clean-up is set for May

If you're a frequent visitor to Ben's, you may have noticed the interior was painted. And if you didn't notice, you know now.

ooooo

Crews were ripping up the concrete around the old outdoor swimming pool last week

ooooo

A popular, but very dangerous motorist shortcut is through the Pas Gas lot. Someone is going to get hurt if this practice continues.

ooooo

Staff at the Texaco station are doing their bit for clean-up, as they have been seen sweeping up their lot on a regular basis

ooooo

Last Thursday's wet snow fall brought back memories of a similar snow storm Drayton Valley experienced during the last week of April in '85

ooooo

If you have an old car body in your yard, and you'd like to have it hauled away, the town will perform this service, free of charge, during clean-up week May 5-11. Make your reservation by calling Dave Turner at 542-5571.

Mall door to change

Owners of the Derrick Mall in Drayton Valley have given the word to proceed with changes to the doors.

Mall spokesman Dale Rendfleish says the owners are talking with contractors about some major changes to the doors. Some will be replaced, two electric eyes one inside and the other out side – will be an added feature and a buggy door will be put in by Blockz entrance for the shopping carts. The floor around the doors is also scheduled to be re-tiled. The doors near the Green Oasis entrance will also be repaired.

About the public washrooms, Rendfleish says the mall janitor has been coming in at noon for the past month, and to his knowledge things are better. There was talk of the mall closing off the washrooms due to increased acts of vandalism.

No date has been set to start work on the doors.

New management plans on changing DV Hotel image

Sam Hessein with some champagne at the Drayton Valley Hotel

By Lorne Christensen

Sam Hessein is changing the image of the Drayton Valley Hotel.

The former Grande Prairie resident took over management at the hotel six weeks ago.

"They used to call it the zoo but not anymore," Hessein says. Since his arrival, several special promotions have been added to the hotel's weekly activities.

The most successful so far has been the introduction of a ladies night every Saturday. During the evening lucky ladies will win everything from a diamond ring to dinners for two.

"You have to give something to get something, people expect that," he explained.

"It went very well, I was surprised it went that good." Hessein said about the first ladies' night.

Other new ideas he has brought to the hotel include "top 40 bands" to go along with the country bands that play at the hotel. Hessein says they are getting some very, very good bands.

He will also be having a greaser's night on May 3.

Another attraction he has added is a sports' lounge with a large screen TV and satellite, a bi during the playoffs, he says.

Hessein says they are also giving the bar and lobby area of the hotel a "face-lift" to attract more couples. The bar is now called the Lone Star Saloon.

He is hoping to aim his marketing at the couples and create a "warm atmosphere" for dancing.

The former manager of Studio 43 in Edmonton a popular nightclub, says he will continue to bring in new fashion" to the hotel.

Hessein adds he "likes the town very much" and feels welcome here with the friendly people."

He comes to Drayton Valley after a 18-year career in the business. Hessein has worked in several hotels including the Four Seasons in Edmonton and the Hyatt Regency in Vancouver. He has served royalty to Pierre Trudeau when he was prime minister.

Hessein says he came to Drayton Valley because he enjoys the "challenge" of something new.

He adds he has always liked meeting people and wants to provide a "good time" for his patrons at the hotel.

Hospital disaster plan to be tested this coming fall

Bryan Gollen

The carnage was almost unbelievable

Broken and battered bodies, remnants of human existence were grim reminders that lives were at stake

And somebody had to deal with this. But who?

The RCMP, ambulance personnel, volunteers and medical staff were able to handle the Feb. 3 Hinton train crash that took 23 lives and injured at least 90 more because they were prepared

Interviewed after the disaster, Greg Derkach, executive director of the Hinton General Hospital, told a reporter, "With the exception of a few small details, everything went very smoothly

Would that be the case here in Drayton Valley? Georgeann Szala, director of patient services at Drayton Valley General hospital says yes.

"We had a disaster drill about four years ago and it was a mock bus accident out side of town," she said. "It all went as nice as clockwork."

Szala says the hospital's disaster plan is updated annually and follows the guidelines of a model plan set forth by Alberta Disaster Services. While drills of the plan or "dry run" as they're more commonly known are not usually staged every year, there is one being planned for Drayton Valley sometime this fall.

But what if a disaster occurred today? Szala says that as soon as a disaster has been determined, emergency calls go out to back-up medical staff who are there within minutes. Active care patients already staying at the hospital are released or moved to another wing of the 100-bed hospital

The next steps involve what have been identified by Alberta Disaster Services as two of the most common problems that rural hospitals experience — communication and triage

Communication with on site rescue personnel is important when they are carrying out what is known as triage. Triage is the evaluation of injuries at the accident site or at the hospital emergency ward to determine where the victims will go next and in what order.

"We have direct communication with all the ambulances so we don't anticipate any problems at all in that regard," Szala said. "We also have the capability to be able to get out on a phone line without having to go through our switchboard so that we're not tied up with incoming calls."

All medical staff is evaluated every three months to ensure their preparedness but it's the real emergency situation that tests their ability to respond. Szala added

"The staff respond beyond your wildest dreams in an actual emergency," she said

Canada Health day

Members of the Drayton Valley Hospital Auxiliary have something special planned for Canada Health Day

For those of you forever trying to appease your sweet tooth, May 12 between the hours of 2 p.m. and 3:30 p.m at the Hospital mall entrance would be the time and the place for you

Members of the hospital auxiliary will be staging a bake sale with plenty of healthy food available to the public. Auxiliary member Louise Mastre said the purpose of the sale is to promote good nutrition and health

Donations of used articles to the Thrift Shop continue to pour in and the hospital auxiliary members are grateful. To accommodate those who are unable to make it down to the Thrift Shop to drop articles off, the north door of the shop remains open 24 hours a day for drop off

Mrs. Tessa Cookson was named as this month's door prize winner

The next hospital auxiliary meeting is scheduled for May 8, 8 p.m. at the hospital conference board room

Emergency ward

Patients in good hands at DV Complex

By Lorne Christensen

It's a place you hope you never have to visit.

But if you do, you'll be in good hands.

The emergency ward at the Drayton Valley Health Complex is well-equipped for almost any emergency. The unit has six rooms ready and waiting.

We have a trauma room for the very injured, says Eleanor Spittler, the unit supervisor. The unit also includes a cast room, an X-ray department, and three day surgery rooms. The day surgery is used for patients who require "minor surgery" and are in and out of the hospital in the same day.

Between March of 1985 and April of 1986 more than 8,190 patients were treated at the unit including "minor to severe accidents to oilfield and traffic accidents," Spittler said. She added the busy period for the emergency unit is usually the weekends during the summer.

But the staff at the unit are well prepared for any accident or emergency. Spittler recalls an incident when five or six injured came in at once but "no additional staff was required.

"It was well-handled," she added.

The average day shift in the unit includes one registered nurse, one registered nursing assistant and Spittler. She explains the night shift often includes two RNs and one RNA.

"The doctors are called when someone comes in," Spittler points out.

The unit also works closely with the ambulance [illegible].

"They have three well equipped units," Spittler added.

Dick de Jong (l to r) and Rick Charley, an EMT, inside one of the ambulances.

Donna Wilson, one of the RNAs that works in the emergency ward, says they maintain contact with the ambulance to find out the extent of the injuries.

"They notify us," Wilson pointed out, adding they give the hospital details on the number and type of injuries.

Dick de Jong, owner of the ambulance service in Drayton Valley, says they get "good support" from the hospital.

"They know us, he explains, "our judgement is accepted."

The ambulance service does "basic cardiac life support." They have five full time and three part-time EMTs, or emergency medical technicians, operating the three ambulances. Two units are staffed at all times with the third unit available if necessary. He says the majority of their work is in town with only about five per cent of their work being oilfield related.

"We want to run a good service, way above standards," Mary de Jong points out, adding they are constantly "updating" their skills.

Inside one of the six rooms ready for emergencies.

"We give basic cardiac life support but we do things beyond it and also give advanced life support," she added. She is a trained nurse and at the highest level next to the doctors."

She points out that sometimes the City of Edmonton has only seven to 10 ambulances working while Drayton Valley sometimes has three working.

The de Jongs have operated the ambulance service for six years and "haven't had a day off," says Dick. They cover an area of about a 25-mile radius from Drayton Valley and go as far as 75 miles west. They also have a policy to maintain the speed limit unless it's "top priority." But most of their calls are not life and death matters as Mary de Jong points out. They spend a lot of time "transferring patients" to Edmonton.

But the extensive service they offer is costly with more than $14,000 in radio equipment to keep them in constant contact with the ambulance staff.

"Money is not what it's all about, it's a public service," Dick de Jong explains.

Edson man purchases Gary's Auto Wrecking

Elmer Walberg sits on one of the cars in the yard at his new business

By Ray Leischbury

Elmer Walberg has been in the automobile industry since about 1972 and is looking forward to his new occupation

Walberg is the new owner of Gary's Auto Wrecking and is looking forward to serving the community

The new owner says the business will stay the same but the name will hopefully be changed to A 1 Auto Parts According to Walberg they are just seeing about registering the new name

The staff of Gary's Auto Wrecking will not see any changes because they know the business. "By keeping the same staff it will make it easier on me, because I am the one learning where everything is Also, the staff here know a lot of the customers that will be doing business with us," Walberg said

Walberg says he will try to please the customers by staying open on Saturdays and maybe close on Mondays

It all depends on the customers' demands, he commented

Walberg's wife Ann, daughter Monique and son Preston will be moving to the Drayton Valley area from Edson as soon as the school year is finished

Case is closed

The file has been closed on several records the town had reported missing

Both the RCMP and Municipal Affairs are aware of the files which went missing in June of last year

Missing are the 1961-62 and 68 general ledgers, 1961-64 assessment cards from block 39 parcels and correspondence files for 1965-69-70.

Breton school students planning trip to Expo '86 in Vancouver

County of Ledue junior and senior high school groups travelling to Expo '86 in Vancouver are among those being financially assisted by the provincial government.

Grants of $100 per student are available and 123 Warburg, Breton, Calmar and Thorsby high school students are taking advantage of the assistance on May 17.

Ten supervisors will accompany the students on the nine-day tour through Jasper, Kamloops, Victoria, Vancouver and back.

The students will travel by bus to B.C. at a cost of $460 per student including meals. Fund raising projects from September to December earned $3,074 to help reduce costs for the Warburg students.

Surveyors return to streets of town for project

Surveyors have returned to Drayton Valley to complete the town's utility record upgrading project.

The project, which is about 80 per cent complete, came to a sudden halt last November when the weather turned cold.

Last year approximately $60,000 was spent on the project with another $35,000 in the budget for this year. This includes an additional $10,000 needed to finish the job.

An Edmonton based firm is doing the utility upgrading project.

Writers' workshop

Nearly everybody has a secret desire to write.

The romantic vision of the reclusive writer holed up in a secluded mountain cabin working on a best seller is an ideal many aspire to.

Well, be you novelist, poet, short story writer or none of the above -- as long as you have desire to write then Saturday, May 3 is a date to remember. That's when the County of Parkland parks and recreation department will be sponsoring its "Write Now!" workshop.

Writers and aspiring writers are asked to bring their poetry, half finished stories, ideas and their own lunch to Blueberry Community school.

The focus of the workshop will be on short stories and poetry but organizers are urging anyone interested not to let anything hold them back from participating. They also point out that there are no formal qualifications for being a writer.

Recreation coordinator Ed Haykowski says the reason for the course is to provide a wider range of cultural offerings to county residents.

"We are trying to expand our cultural program of farings," he said. "We've had a lot of calls from people interested in the program over the past couple of days."

Registration is on a first come, first served basis is a maximum of 25 entries. The fee is $15. More information can be obtained from Ed at 542-4532.

ON MAY 3, OVER 9000 YOUNG PEOPLE WILL BE CLEANING UP ALBERTA'S HIGHWAYS.

Every year on a Saturday in May, a group of young Albertans make a special effort to clean up Alberta's highways.

Over 9,000 members of our 4-H Clubs and Junior Wardens will take part in removing the litter left along Alberta's roadsides by careless motorists. Almost 8,000 km of provincial primary highway right-of-way will be cleaned and about 57,000 refuse bags will be filled.

Saturday, May 3rd, is the big day.*

Although these young people will be wearing safety vests and bright clothing and supervised by their parents and leaders, you, as the operator of a vehicle that day, must be extra cautious.

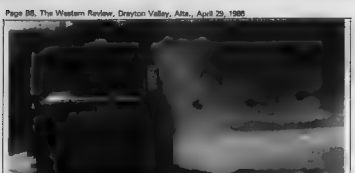
Please do your part. Watch out for our young volunteers! Look for the road signs! Drive safely while these young people are on our highways.

 Uban Moore
Minister of Transportation

Alberta TRANSPORTATION

* In the event of inclement weather, the clean-up will take place the following Saturday, May 10th

DO YOUR PART — DRIVE WITH EXTRA CARE AND CAUTION.



Help on the way

The Town of Drayton Valley has ordered a new street sweeper that is expected to cost about $110,000. The California-made sweeper is expected to arrive in mid-May, just in time to help with the annual clean-up. Above, the town's current sweeper raises a cloud of dust.

Motion defeated

Town council got caught up in their own red tape during their April 17 meeting.

Council was asked to give three readings to ratify the official appointment of Robin Washburne as municipal secretary and Jana Sider as their new treasurer.

However, Councillor Charlie Miner questioned procedure when the third reading was asked for. He wanted to know what the big urgency was.

A vote calling for third reading, ended in a 3-3 draw, which resulted in the loss of the motion. The motion needed unanimous approval before it could pass.

The third reading is expected at council's next meeting May 8th

Breton auction

Breton High school attempted to hold an auction April 19, the only thing was — hardly anyone showed up. Organizers were understandably disappointed as $2,500 had been raised the previous year. Pictured here, Melvin Austin II, 12, and fellow Grade 7 Breton Junior High student examine some of the donated items waiting to go on the auction block. Proceeds from the auction were earmarked for student council and Parent Teacher Association projects.

Agriculture - the foundation of Alberta

Don Getty has made it clear that Agriculture is his number-one priority. He is confident that "in spite of difficulties facing many farmers, agriculture in Alberta is fundamentally sound and it has a strong future"

The Progressive Conservatives are acting!

- long term loans for farmers at a fixed interest rate of 9% over 20 years - a $2 billion investment in agriculture's future
- total overhaul of crop insurance
- lower input costs in insurance, fertilizer, energy and money
- a safety net for farmers through effective stabilization and insurance programs
- building production capabilities and marketing efforts to do the best job possible for Alberta producers

Already, Don Getty has . . .

- met with and listened to farmers
- established the Agriculture and Rural Economy Committee under his chairmanship
- placed agriculture as his number-one priority at the Fall 1985 First Ministers' Conference
- doubled the Farm Fuel Rebate — now at 63.6¢/gallon
- established the Alberta Livestock Assistance Program without restrictive zones
- assisted beekeepers
- opened up discussions to end the "Hog Wars"
- established the 20-year Alberta Farm Credit Stability Program for farmers.
- renamed Agriculture Development Corporation [illegible] loans
- started a review of Agriculture Development Corporation

Don Getty is the Premier for Agriculture

West End swimming pool meeting is being planned

By Shelli Carson
896-2294

An open public meeting will be held by the West End Swimming Pool Society May 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the Civic Centre.

All executive have been chosen. This meeting is for the public to gain more information on the progress the society is making.

The society is accepting donations per square foot, or cash donations or post-dated cheques, as well as memorial donations. All donations are tax deductable. For a $1,000 donation, the family gets free use of the pool for one year. A walk-a-thon is being planned for May 12 with the proceeds going to the pool fund.

The kindergarten class has planned some field trips for spring, which include a tour of Mary's Bakery, Three Knights Pizza and Steak House and the Drayton Valley bowling alley, as well as a home visit to the Jim and Renee Murray dairy farm at Alsike. A trip to Storyland Valley Zoo is being planned for the end of the year.

The Breton Agricultural Society is planning an arm wrestling and beach pizza tournament for May 3 at the community centre.

Competition is open to children ages four to 16 and adults. There will be no registration fee for children. Children may register from 10 to 11 a.m. and adults from 10 to 12:30.

During the evening a Las Vegas Night will be held at the centre. There will be 25 draws made, including a trip for two to Las Vegas. Tickets include admission, refreshments, entry into all the draws and a midnight supper. Tickets and information are available through Rod and Heather Barrett, Connie Tyrrs and the Breton Video Arcade. Only 200 tickets are available. Proceeds will go to the swimming pool fund.

Wendy Hanson bowled a 806 at Thorsby Bowling Lanes April 7, picking up both her 275 and 300 pins. She has a high triple of 681, beating her own previous record.

The following Breton High school students received medals for their participation in the Canadian Mathematics competition: Heather Power (Grade 9), Chris Bijen (Grade 10), Kendal Power and Jean McCulloch (Grade 11)

Coaches are desperately needed for baseball for all age groups. Please call Judy at the village office if you are interested in coaching a team. Anyone wishing to join a team may do so by using the sign-up sheets posted at both the elementary and high schools.

Congratulations to Linds on anniversary

By Carolyn Lind
542-2622

Congratulations to Phyllis and Lawrence Lind who celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary recently.

It's nice to see the tans being sported by the Gary Skinner and Jim Trenchuk families who have recently returned from Hawaii.

The Buck Creek school reunion committee will hold a meeting April 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the Buck Creek school. Anyone with any ideas for the reunion are welcome to come to the meeting. Volunteers are also greatly needed to help with plans for the reunion.

Welcome back to the George Hubert family who have been visiting Phoenix, Tombstone and the Grand Canyon, Arizona.

Get well wishes to Clayton Skinner who suffered a broken collarbone at school recently.

The Gordon Steffensons are now driving a red Cordoba.

Recent visitors at the Joe Safronovich and Lorena Siemens' homes were Donna and sister Treva and Art Beschman from Grande Prairie.

Nu-West Photo club extends contest

Peggy Miller has obtained employment as supervisor of a day care centre in most Red Deer, starting April 21.

Miller has just completed two years in early childhood development at the Red Deer College. Her job entails organizing and setting up all programs, etc.

The annual meeting of the Alberta Senior Citizens Sports and Recreational Association, Zone 4, was held in Stettler April 9 with the election of officers.

Elected for a two-year term was Alex Danyluk of Alder Flats as president (Danyluk served the past two years as vice-president). Milt Robbins, Stettler was elected vice-president. It is the president's responsibility to choose a secretary-treasurer.

Zone 4 playoffs are being planned for the third annual Summer Games to be held in Grande Prairie Aug. 7, 8 and 9. There are 23 activities for the seniors to take part in. Anyone wishing to enter or for more information, please call Max Danyluk at 586-3765.

Zone 4 takes in a vast area, from the Saskatchewan River to the border, city of Red Deer north to the County of Wetaskiwin before. Dates and places for the zone playoffs will be announced at a later date.

An oldtimer of the Alder Flats district, Elvin Stowell of Surrey, B.C. died at the age of 60 years. He came to the Alder Flats area in 1934 with his parents, Howard and Annie Stowell, two brothers and five sisters. They homesteaded on NE-17-47-7-W5, presently owned by the Schoenberg. Elvin grew up in the district and took all his schooling here. In 1949 he moved to Ponoka where he later married and raised a family of four.

Elvin is survived by his wife, Flora; one son, three daughters and two grand children, one brother, Ray of Abbotsford, B.C., five sisters Lillian Thrower and Marie Bourk of Alder Flats, Vera Stuchiskal of Drayton Valley, Anna Fye of Wetaskiwin and Iris Volkjar of Fort St. James, B.C.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the families of the late Elvin Stowell.

Marie Bourke spent a month visiting her daughter Lana and Robert Washington and family in Sterling, Ont. and also spent some time with Larry and Joan Bourk at Mississauga.

Congratulations to Jean Sargeant who won a year's time developing and film at IDA Drug in Drayton Valley.

On April 9 the hockey and figure skating associations held their annual pot luck supper and awards night at the Alder Flats Community Centre. Individuals receiving Esso-sponsored awards in the various categories were:

Hockey mites

Jevana Waddell, most valuable player (MVP); Brandon Bragg, most improved player (MIP); Chad Flak, most sportsman like; Josh Schaier, most dedicated; Trent Koroning, best offence; Trevor Foster, best defence.

Novice

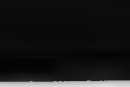
Chad Keligren, MVP; David Poudrier, MIP; Wesley Larsen, most sportsmanlike.

Mites

Travis Moody, MVP; Billy Dunn, most improved; Jason Miller, most sportsman-like.

Pee wee

Clayton Skinner, MVP; Brad



Drader, MIP; Dwayne Rowan, most sportsman-like

Midgets and bantams

Dallas Sargeant, MVP; Chris Stuart, MIP; Calvin Banack, most sportsman like

There were 31 figure skaters and they all received little trophies. A thank you to Celeen Kurley, Richelle Keligren and Michelle Murray for their time and efforts teaching this past season.

A speedy recovery is wished for Sherry Hammond is the Drayton Valley hospital following an automobile accident.

A bridal shower, hosted by Agnes Schaertle, Babe Ralner, Ivy Keligren, Lois Macilvorsky and Marion Hoflin, was held in honor of Shannon Foster at the community hall on April 15. Shannon and Bernard were married Feb. 14 and are residing in Glen Rainer's trailer.

Percy and Lil Hoflin and grandson Geoffery of Calgary spent the weekend in the area recently visiting relatives. Percy also went to Spruce Grove to watch grandson Christopher Hoflin play in a hockey tournament. Chris was chosen as the most valuable player.

Bernice Johnson attended the Clothing and Textiles Update for Spring '86 at Ponoka April 12. The ladies had an opportunity to use a Serger and make a 20-minute top. The machine (Serger) sews, overcasts and trims all in one operation.

Winners of the draw sponsored by the band students bound for Expo 86 were Rob Melin, Doug Groves, Paulette Ouellet, Loretta Snieder, Ann Olsen, Gail Dunn, Linda Weinerstrom and Leon Szkaluba.

The Nu West Photography Club photo contest has been extended to Aug. 10. The three categories are: humorous, wildlife and faces, open to all amateur photographers. The faces category is also open to professionals. Mail entries to Box 3007, Slingel at Buck Lake or give them to any of the club members.

Due to the excessive enrollment for the powder puff mechanics course through Further Education, another session has been scheduled for May 1, 8, 15 and 22. The sessions are held from 7-9 p.m. at Banack's shop in Buck Lake with Lloyd Johnson instructing. There are still a few more openings left to fill the maximum of 12. Phone Lorraine at 586-3815 or Sheryl at 586-2297 to register.

HEARING TESTS Set for Drayton Valley

Electronic hearing tests will be conducted at the Beltone Service Centre in the Drayton Valley Medical Clinic, 5158 - 51 Street, on Thursday, May 8, 1986, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Anyone who has trouble hearing is welcome to have the test. Many people with hearing problems don't need hearing aids, but only a midterm hearing test like the one now being offered by Beltone can really tell for sure. Mrs. Marie Alexander, your Beltone Consultant, will conduct the tests.

Early detection is important! Obtain the satisfaction and peace of mind that comes with knowing you've taken a big step forward on the road to better hearing.

SERVICE AND REPAIRS FOR ALL MAKES OF HEARING AIDS!

If you can't make it in, call us at ANDERSON HEARING AID SERVICE LTD., 10809-124 Street, Toll free phone 1-800-282-3912 or 488-6802 in Edmonton. We have been servicing the hard of hearing in this area for over 20 years.

Library to remain open longer after May 1

By Lois Peterson

A recent decision by the library board will see library hours open to the public change May 1.

Effective from that date, the library will extend its hours open to 31 each week – a 24 per cent increase This is the first change in total hours since the library moved to its present location in December of 1980 when Saturday hours were added.

The new hours are: Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday - 2:30-7:30 p.m.; Wednesday - 10 a.m.-4 p.m.; and Saturday - 11 a.m.-4 p.m.

The hours have been changed in an effort to better meet the needs of the majority of library patrons, as indicated by response to a community survey and general comments The one hour earlier opening on Monday Tuesday, Thursday and Friday will give adult patrons extra time requested; more time opening on Wednesday will provide earlier library access to those who make that day their major day downtown.

It is also hoped that a drop-in storytime for preschoolers can be held on Wednesday mornings We need volunteers to carry out this program. If interested, call the library. The extra hour added to Saturday after noon should ease the final rush that day

We welcome your comments regarding the new library hours.

Just added to the junior non-fiction section are: Growing Up With Science, an illustrated encyclopedia of inventions, 25 volumes, color illustrations, tone-week issue.

New references for use in library only: Compton's Encyclopedia, c1986, 25 volumes and master fact index make this an excellent resource and easy to use.

World Book, c1986, 22 volumes including research guide and index. Always a favorite source for junkers through adult levels.

Clean-up discussed at meeting

A regular meeting was held in April Items discussed were:

The highway clean-up is on May 3. All members are to meet at the Derrick Mall at 9 a.m. Everyone is to bring a bag lunch. We decided to have our meeting after the clean up instead of May 4.

The members decided to have a bake sale on Friday, May 16 at the Derrick Mall from 4-9 p.m.

Also, our 4-H camp-out for Achievement Day has been changed from May 16 to the May 30 weekend.

Biggest loss of life on a farm occurs in the field

By Bev Brooks

Farming today is said to be the third most dangerous occupation in North America in terms of death rate.

Farm work involves complex machinery, unpredictable livestock and people who develop fatigue. The people involved in farming cope with demanding work, time pressures and long days that farmers feel pushed to fill to capacity

As a farmer trying to get the year's crop work done, the last thing on your mind may be farm safety – but it shouldn't be. Take a look at these facts:

• Farm accidents cause more than TWO deaths per month in Alberta

• 19% of REPORTED farm accidents involved children

• About 50% of farm accidents involve machinery, especially tractors, while about 30% involve livestock, 13% tools, approximately 4% general and 3% chemicals

• The highest percent of farm accidents occur morning between 9 and 10 a.m

Also a breakdown of farm accidents by location as follows

• Field 28% (with 26 deaths in 1982)

• Farm buildings 19%

• Farm yard 27%

• Home 16%

How you can help prevent accidents

1. Run a safety seminar for your family (all successful industries do it). Devote a half-day, or whatever it takes, to making rules and planning safe ways of doing things. You may want to do it with a neighboring family and make a social occasion of it. A half-day at this could save days, dollars and lives.

2. Follow the safety rules you set. "Do as I say and not as I do" has no place in a safety program.

3. Manage stress and high emotions. Work with your whole family to handle problems and don't make an accident happen by working with complex machinery while half your mind is tied up with other worries.

4. Get enough rest. Each family member should be careful to fill a day with only the amount of activities they can handle. This way you can prevent fatigue and in the long run prevent accidents.

Educating both yourself and your children in the area of farm safety could be the best thing you've ever done for your family. To help you get started, come to our office or phone 542-5365 for the free book "A Manager's Guide To Farm Safety." This booklet provides practical information about how to make your farm a safer environment starting with teaching the inexperienced to manage stress, machinery, animal and tool safety, to personal safety equipment and first aid. This should be top priority for anyone wishing to avoid the physical, emotional, economic and unexpected costs of farm accidents.

Farming requires special skills and it has probably taken you a few years to learn how to farm efficiently to stay healthy in life and limb. Take it upon yourself to help those who don't have your experience.

Number of choices

Many farmers concerned about declining grain prices

A great many farmers are concerned over grain prices. Declines in all commodities are making farmers re-evaluate their cropping system. Local farmers have a number of choices.

One commonly considered alternative is Canola. While the price of this crop looks attractive, you should consider the whole picture. Competition from other competing products (palm oil and soybeans for example) is driving prices down. We've seen

Canola plants go bankrupt, and some are even closing temporarily.

In addition, Canola acreage will probably rise this year. That means more bushels competing for less market. I wouldn't grow Canola without a signed marketing contract this year.

Other cost projections are down this year. Wheat interests a lot of farmers, in spite of its extremely long growing season. Our shortest season wheat crops need more time than our longer season oat crops. It's not a safe bet given our chances of an early fall. Current price projections on wheat indicate the price may fall to 75 per cent of last year's levels. That will mean a 45 per cent drop in the return over cash costs.

Perhaps the best answer to 1986's dilemma is diversification. No one crop, or livestock, is going to have dramatic prices. The market is far from settled and only the summer weather is likely to have an effect.

A Farm Computer Open House will be held at the Lindale school gym on May 1 at 6:30-8 p.m. There will be a variety of computers and farm software on hand. Everyone is welcome.

The final deadline for the Livestock Drought Assistance and Livestock Assistance programs is April 30, 1986. If your forms aren't in as yet, get them in now while you still have time.

Mobile home park rejected

A second request for a mobile home park on the old drive in site has been turned down.

Irven & Vera Janzen and Maureen Klassen appeared before the Municipal Planning Commission (MPC) April 6th with new information on water and sewer, paving, playground and a storage area.

The new information came after an application for a development permit was made to the County of Parkland previously and the MPC was requested to give their recommendation. Despite the new information, the application was rejected

Trustees wanted Eldorado school portable moved

County of Parkland school board trustees have asked the Minister of Education to approve disposal of the Stony Plain Upper Elementary (West Building).

They have also requested approval for disposal of portables at Queen Street, Duffield, Eldorado and Seba Beach schools and at Memorial Composite High school and the County Services building.

Manager of Facility Services Kurt Berndiasen indicated at a recent board meeting the disposal requests are part of a five-year plan his department has drawn up for each school in the county system.

Disposal approval will not mean immediate demolition of the designated school building and portables, he pointed out.

The approval will, however, allow the province and his department to begin planning for the costs of replacing the facilities.

He recommended the board not spend any more money to modernize or upgrade the structures in question.

The costs of building a new school are between $900 and $1,900 per square metre Berndiasen said. The cost of modernization is approximately $750 per square metre.

Trustee Margaret McNary questioned the honesty of the proposal request for Stony Plain Elementary school since "the mood of the board is not to build new [redacted]."

Trustee Bianne Kulak, however, said she regarded the disposal request as the result of 10 years of indecision by the board.

Since it is now too expensive to renovate Stony Plain Elementary school, the board has to establish long range plans to replace it, she said.

Other accommodation needs and building program recommendations approved by trustees included the addition of plans to modernize Entwistle and Tomahawk [redacted].

The board also deleted plans to construct Experimental Industrial Education portables at Graminia school.

Plans for a $2.1 million addition and modernization

Chorale performing

The Chorale will be performing at the Calvary Baptist Church in Drayton Valley tomorrow (Wednesday) night

project at Elementary B school in Drayton Valley were approved.

Construction will begin next year. Annual local support costs will be $103,000 in 1988 and an average of $96,000 for the subsequent five years, Director of Business Services Walter Heppler informed trustees.

The 7:30 p.m. performance is a presentation of the Peace River Bible Institute

FINANCING ALBERTA BUSINESS

The Alberta Opportunity Company provides financial and counselling assistance to small business entrepreneurs

Everything But The Kitchen Sink!

Bob Walls moved his company from Westlock in 1979.

He quickly found the premises that suited his needs but was less fortunate in his search for financing. So Bob approached the AOC.

Today Bob's company, Panoka Cabinet Makers Ltd. is an intimate concern where quality comes before quantity. Custom made china and bathroom cabinets are a large part of business but Bob is proudest of his kitchens, where his craft is applied to everything but the kitchen sink.

If you have a sound business idea, but you're unable to obtain financing through regular sources, call or visit your nearest AOC office and ask for our brochure, Financing Alberta Business.

The Senior Citizens Home Heating Protection Program

Did you receive your $100 rebate for 1985?

Under the Senior Citizens Home Heating Protection Program, Alberta senior citizen homeowners are entitled to a rebate of $100 for 1985. Cheques have already been issued to a number of eligible individuals, based on lists compiled by municipalities for the Alberta Property Tax Reduction Program for the 1985 calendar year.

If you were missed in our initial mailing, you are still eligible to receive this rebate for 1985 if you:

- owned and occupied your home for 120 days or more during 1985, and
- are 65 years of age or older, or
- are between 60 and 64 years of age and your deceased spouse was 65 or older at the time of death,
- are a widow/widower between 55 and 64 who is receiving a pension under the Alberta Widows Pension Act,
- own a mobile home and are not receiving the Senior Citizens Renters Assistance Grant.

Did we miss you? If you qualify, and have not received your cheque, please:

1. Ask for an application form at your local municipal office.
2. Mail the completed form to:
   [redacted]
   3rd Floor, 12323 Stony Plain Road
   Edmonton, Alberta T5N 3Y9
3. For further information, call
   [redacted]
   (To call toll-free from outside Edmonton, check your local telephone directory under the heading, [redacted].)

The 1986 rebate will be mailed early in 1987.

Bullocks celebrate 55th anniversary

On March 29 George and Pauline Bullock celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary and George's 80th birthday at a surprise party held by their children in the Entwistle Elks Hall.

They were greeted at the door by their children and presented with a yellow rose corsage and rose boutonniere. As they entered, Happy Birthday was played by Sheri Bullock, granddaughter, while the family and guests sang.

They were escorted to the head table, where they were joined by Ed and Helen Kaskaluta (brother and sister-in-law), Ann Ing (sister) and Bob Clark (brother-in-law).

Jim Mitchell, grandson-in-law from High River, was master of ceremonies. After welcoming the invited guests and telling a few stories about the honored couple everyone was invited to help themselves to a smorgasbord. Bob Clark, from Kamloops, B.C., said Grandpa Wendy Oake, great daughter, toasted the anniversary celebrants and their baby boy.

Mara Chetchotko, councillor for Division 3 for Parkland, conveyed messages of congratulations on behalf of the county.

Charlie Ostertag, a long time friend and former employer spoke of his years with the Bullocks.

The couple's children sang Oh! My Pa Pa accompanied by a cassette tape to honor their father on his birthday.

Therry Huculak, grandson, video taped the occasion.

Jim Mitchell read congratulatory messages from Alberta Premier Don Getty, Lt.-Gov. Helen Hunley, MLAs Peter Trynchy and Joe Clark. Messages of congratulations were also received from Prime Minister Mulroney, Opposition Leader Turner and Governor General Jeanne Sauve.

The children and grand children presented the Bullocks with matching dismond bands.

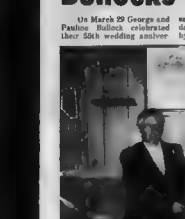
The three tiered anniversary cake made by their daughter and decorated by Bev Drewes, was then cut and passed around.

The birthday cake in the shape of an 80 was also cut and served.

Guests and family completed the evening in visiting and a lot of "remember when's" were heard around the hall.

George Bullock was born April 9, 1906 in Wales, England and married Pauline in Calgary March 25, 1931.

Out-of-town guests were from Kamloops, B.C., High River, Camrose, Breton, Sherwood Park, Edmonton, Stony Plain and Drayton Valley.



George and Pauline Bullock.

MEET THE STAFF

Marvin Long behind the wheel of The Western Review's van.

Wedding photographer delivers papers

Marvin Long spends most of his time on the road while working for The Western Review.

But then, that's where he should be as the driver that delivers the papers each week.

In addition to his duties of delivering the papers, the resident of Buck Lake also takes pictures for the paper.

Marvin has been employed as the driver since January but has been taking pictures for the paper for over a year.

"It started with Frank (Ryan, editor) and I meeting at a talent show in Buck Lake," Marvin explains, adding they became good friends after that. Since that time Marvin's pictures of everything from wildlife to accidents have graced the pages of the newspaper.

Marvin says he always has his camera with him and ready when he makes the weekly trek to Leduc to have the paper printed.

"I'm always watching for pictures," he adds.

The trip to Leduc every Monday starts about 11 a.m. and he returns with the 5,500 copies of the paper to be distributed. From there he takes copies to Evansburg on Monday night to be mailed out the next day. Then at 7 a.m. on Tuesday he hits the roads again delivering the paper to "stores and businesses" in Drayton Valley. Marvin's job also includes inserting flyers into about 700 papers before he leaves Leduc. Some of these are mailed in Leduc and some dropped off at Warburg and Alsike on his way through.

Even with the odd hours Marvin says he still enjoys delivering the paper.

"I enjoy sitting and talking to the different customers once in a while," he says about the route.

But the former farmer says photography is still his number one joy about the job. The freelance photographer, who takes pictures at weddings, has his own darkroom at home where he produces both color and black and white. Other pastimes of the Buck Lake native include watching TV and collecting. He points out he has more than 5,000 business cards and 1,000 pen collections at home along with a coal oil lamp collection. Marvin's wife Lin works at the Treasury Branch in Breton.
